1. The system shall provide two interfaces one for the user and one for the librarian.

2. The system shall display to the user the library free seats number with the format "free seats/total seats".

3. The system shall allow the user to search for libraries within a specified range from his position.